GOVERNOR DEWEY COMING SATURDAY

New President Issues Address To Studentbody

On Tuesday, Sept. 28, the Rev. Alfred Zanolar officially and for the first time addressed the studentbody in his new capacity as President of St. Joseph's College.

In his initial address he stated that the objectives of St. Joseph's could be no different from those which have guided the school in the past. He listed these objectives as being the creation, intensification and spreading of the Catholic way of life.

College Improvement

The medium of carrying out this program was made clear when the new president said, "To achieve this purpose we will devote our every effort to bring about the continuous improvement of our college, its physical plant, its educational offerings, and all the services it offers you in preparation of your future."

Impressive silence lingered over the auditorium when Father Zanolar stressed the paramount importance of religion and its subjective application at St. Joseph's. At this point he said, "To help you know your God and your religion we offer you our program of religious instruction. To help you serve God we offer you every possible opportunity to receive the Sacraments, to attend Holy Mass and other liturgical services, and the chapel is always open... though it is too often empty."

Personal Interviews

With the hope of furthering the aim of the college Father Zanolar told the assembly that to fulfill his desire of becoming personally acquainted with each student he was going to set aside definite times during the day when students could visit him for personal interviews.

In concluding, the new president declared a double holiday, Oct. 11 and 12.

New Religious Head Named for Community

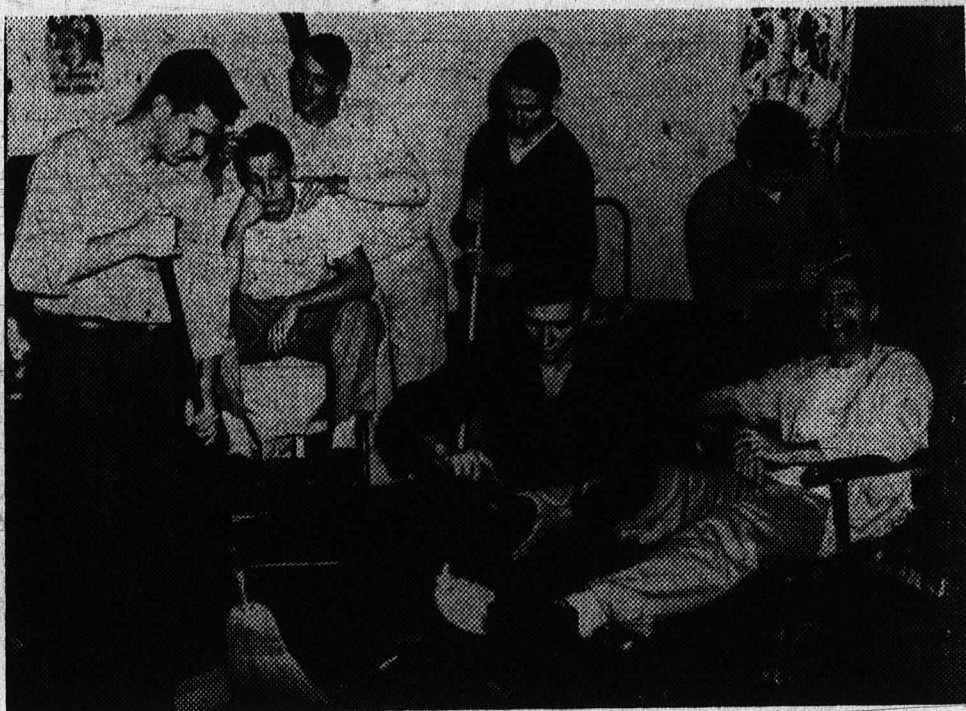

The Very Rev. Charles J. Herber has been named religious superior at St. Joseph's and assumed his duties on Sept. 26.

Father Herber attended St. Joseph's from 1919 to 1923 and was ordained Feb. 21, 1929. He has been engaged as chaplain at St. Rose Convent, La Crosse, Wis., and in parochial work. For two years he was spiritual director of students at St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio, and before coming to St. Joseph's he completed six years as superior at St. Mary's Home, Burkettsville, Ohio.

Press Workshop

All St. Joseph's students are invited to attend the N.F.C.C.S. Press Commission Workshop, to be held on the St. Joe campus, Oct. 16-17. All English and Journalism majors are expressly requested to attend.

Such Helpful Frosh!

Fatherly Upperclassmen Aid Frosh in Learning College Life

BY HUGH SCHADLE

"Have the Upperclassmen got you yet?" A familiar question around the freshman realm of movement during the first few days of initiation. The answer was very seldom in the negative. Now, the question is considered foolish, indeed. In answer to it the freshman will only raise his calloused hands, grin resignedly, and trudge off to his next unwaxed floor.

The mistreated youngster who lives under the beanie of green has one consolation. At least his education will be complete. If he finds himself losing his well-fed look after graduation as an accountant, chemist, or journalist, he can keep body and soul together by riding the business-end of a push-broom.

Useful Knowledge

He will have a complete knowledge of the mechanics of assorted types of mops, brushes, and scrub-rags. He may even find a position as a floor wax salesman, or as a demonstrator of windex sprayers. Initiations can have some educational value, dubious though they may be.

Although every freshman realizes the priceless value of initiation, he nevertheless looks forward to Nov. 6 as a date of importance exceeded only by the day of final judgment. Whether the freshman class will or will not survive until then is only a matter of conjecture. Some freshmen say "yes," most say "no."

Persecution

In answer to all complaints, the upperclassmen only smile benevolently and retell great tales of extreme abuse undergone by themselves in their initial year of college. The weary frosh finds little comfort in the knowledge that his persecutor was once among the persecuted. He wants only to change places with his elder college brother for a day or two, and drink deeply of the cup of revenge.

Most freshmen agree, however, that they have undergone worse initiations. The upperclassman is a good Joe who asks, "Will you?" instead of commanding, "You will." At least he says the former, although he means the latter.

During the course of your labors he treats you as if you were a friend good enough to help with the spring cleaning. He tries hard not to become impatient when you spill glass wax on his new suit. All these things keep the freshman from developing a persecution complex.

Preserves Muscles

The tailing "green horn" feels that the exercise will preserve his bulging muscles, but shudders with the recollection of the "better things to come" look on the upperclassman's face.

It's all good clean fun with a capital "C" and will be weathered by this freshman class as it has been weathered by all others. On that glorious day when freshman becomes sophomore, the abuses endured now will suddenly become a vague memory.

On that day, the ideas and attitudes of the former frosh will undergo complete metamorphosis. In looking at the new freshman class, he will not note the tenderness of their young hands. Nor will he find a personification of himself as he was the previous year. He will see only the extreme uncleanness of his new room, and will stride purposefully into that group of new green caps.

RAP Resumes Rating Of Radio Raconteurs

Campus balloting by the Radio Acceptance Poll gets underway Oct. 17. More than 156 colleges will rate programs during the coming year. The balloting will be under the direction of Joe McGrath, local N.F.C.C.S. senior delegate.

Among the shows being rated this year are: Jack Benny, Fred Allen, Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, Duffy's Tavern, Abbott and Costello, Dennis Day, Charlie McCarthy, Phil Harris, Meet Me at Parky's, Burns and Allen, Village Store, Jack Carson, Red Skelton, It Pays to Be Ignorant, and The Life of Riley.

Candidate to Give Campaign Speech in St. Joe Fieldhouse

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for president of the United States, is scheduled to give a campaign address this Saturday in the St. Joseph's fieldhouse.

Mr. Dewey will arrive in Rensselaer by special train at 11:45 a.m., and after his talk in the fieldhouse will leave Rensselaer at 1:00 p.m.

Halleck Instrumental

Charles A. Halleck of Rensselaer, Majority Leader of the House of Representatives, made it possible for Dewey to be heard here. During the G.O.P. convention held in Philadelphia in June of this year, Halleck proved instrumental in throwing the Indiana delegation behind Dewey's nomination.

Dewey started a nine-state campaign Sunday night through the Middle West. He will swing across northern Indiana Saturday, stopping at Collegeville.

Other Appearances

The Republican presidential candidate is booked for 37 other campaign appearances during his eight-day trip, including major speeches at Pittsburgh, Kansas City, and St. Paul.

Seminarians Sing Sunday High Mass

Seminarians, under the direction of Father Lawrence Heiman, are singing the eight o'clock Sunday High Mass. The Proper of the Mass, consisting of the Introit, Gradual, Offertory and Communion, is sung by a select group of voices, while the Common of the Mass is sung by the entire congregation. Thus we have two innovations, both in harmony with the mind of the Church:

1) The "Schola Cantorum" which is sung in the sanctuary is more preferable in the eyes of the Church than singing from the choir loft.

2) Of congregational singing, Pope Pius XII in his encyclical, "Mediator Dei," says: "Let the full harmonious singing of our people rise to heaven like the bursting of a thunderous sea, and let them testify by the melody of their song to the unity of their hearts and minds as becomes brothers and children of the same Father."

Spanish Dance Team To Perform At Collegeville

"Rhythms of Spain" will be the second offering of the current Speckbaugh Memorial Series Thursday, Oct. 23, when the famed Spanish dance team of Federico Rey and Pilar Gomez appear in the college theatre. They are known throughout Europe and the United States for their exciting Flamenco and intricate Basque dances.

Senor Rey and Senorita Gomez will be supported by the youthful and dazzling Gina Ramirez and Carlos Montoya, and the distinguished pianist, Raymond Sachse. Their combined talents are expected to provide an interesting and fascinating program.

Freshmen Elect Cannonito for Class President

Emanuel Cannonito won the freshman class presidency last Thursday, Oct. 7, when he defeated Frank "Citizen" Pavalko, 72 votes to 55. According to the election rules, Pavalko is now freshman vice-president.

The election was the culmination of a two-week period of hectic campaigning. Primary elections were held Tuesday, Oct. 5.

Five Candidates

Five candidates ran for the office. Two, Jim Gardner and Ed Cobett, were elected treasurer and secretary, respectively, at the primary. Don DeLave, the fifth candidate, was eliminated from the race in the primary.

The election was one of the most spectacular ever seen on the Collegeville campus. The contest was marked by signs, free candy bars and cigars, a public address system, a bonfire rally, and several speeches by all the candidates.

Cannonito Underdog

Cannonito entered the finals as underdog choice to Pavalko. The "Citizen" led Cannonito by 14 votes in the primary.

Cannonito's acceptance speech was a model in brevity and school spirit. He said: "It's a little late for the pep rally, so I want to thank all you fellows for voting for me, and I'll do my talking in service to you."

Spanish Club Holds First Meeting of Year

The 1948-'49 Chapter of the Spanish Club held its first meeting Thursday, Oct. 7. Mr. Luis Soto, the new moderator of the club, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Soto, a native of Puerto Rico and new instructor in the Spanish Department, explained to the group some tentative plans for the coming year.

The main purpose of the club is to bring the members in closer contact with Spanish idioms and so build a better speaking vocabulary. Mr. Soto added that the fellows who are interested in the language should see how Spanish-speaking people really live.

Any student who has had high school Spanish or is taking Spanish in college is cordially invited to join.

Condolence

The faculty and students extend sincere sympathy to Father Cletus Dirksen on the recent death of his mother, and to Father Charles Davitt on the death of his brother.

Attention Men!

"Are you a man? A real he-man? Or are you a 97-pound weakling like I used to be? I suggest you try my 'Powerful Tautness' method. It's guaranteed to solve all your problems." "Are you a man? Are you a real thinker? No? Then you had better join our Infinite Intelligence Club. Write now!! Our method is guaranteed to solve all your problems." Do you know what it is to be close to God? You don't? The only thing left for you is to send for our free booklet, 'Secret Slobbovian System' which shows you just how to prepare yourself for the hereafter. Guaranteed to solve all your problems."

What does the St. Joseph student think when he reads these kinds of ads, so rampant in today's publications? Sometimes he laughs, bemused by their absurdity. Again, he may feel a sorrow for the numerous gullible persons who succumb to the magnetic sentence: Guaranteed to solve all your problems. Yes, it's a magic statement. The human race has been searching since its birth for a 'universal solvent' for its worries and woes, which come in three classes: physical, mental and spiritual.

The Catholic young man does not have to resort to such apocryphal cure-alls. He knows that the closest he can come to perfect happiness in this world is a well-balanced life which takes in all three aspects, the spiritual preceding. He knows that if he starts now to live such a life, he will be in wisdom, if not in years... a man.

To become a man, not only in stature but in mental ability and spiritual fullness, is the dream of every youth. Here at St. Joseph's, the feeling of virility is often a fleeting one for the individual. At times, it seems as though he has the whole world whipped. Then tests come along and spread a net of child-like helplessness over him. Tests over, hair starts to grow on his chest again. There is one certain activity throughout the school year, however, which never fails to assure one that he is a man among men. That activity is worship in the form of novenas.

There are two perpetual novenas in progress on the campus, one in honor of the Precious Blood, the other in honor of Our Sorrowful Mother. They were instituted here in February by request of the students. That is a singular statement. By signifying that they could and would attend these novenas in full force, they showed a willingness to do that something extra for the greater honor and glory of Jesus Christ and His Mother Mary. Such an attitude is more than worthy of any man. It gives one a feeling of satisfaction to know that he has taken time usually allotted to evening recreation and gives it willingly to prayer. The union of many voices in common prayer creates an atmosphere of fellowship among men that cannot be denied. From the opening prayers to the last hymn, the masculinity of men praying exerts an influence which cannot effect the novenite.

Men of St. Joseph's, you have been presented with many opportunities to better yourself since this term started. These novenas give you the chance to make an especial offering to Jesus and Mary, to join with your fellow men through the medium of common prayer. Be truly men and take advantage of it.

For You...

This fall season of 1948 is a time of soap-box orations, hand-shaking, and baby-kissing. President Harry S. Truman and Thomas E. Dewey have been touring the country, expounding their respective platforms and making speeches in an attempt to win votes for the coming presidential election.

Candidates for class offices, here in Collegeville, have borrowed a page from the present presidential campaign in order to put over their ideas as office-seeking individuals. In turn, STUFF would like to borrow a page from both campaigns by expressing its platform for the coming school year.

STUFF would like to have 100 percent backing of the students and faculty of St. Joe during the 1948-'49 school year, but it realizes to make this possible, it must also define its platform just as any individual would do in order to gain the confidence of the followers. It is with this mind that the following paragraphs are written.

The platform of STUFF is based on a threefold purpose... to inform, entertain, and influence. Taking all handicaps into consideration, your Collegeville newspaper staff will attempt to present this threefold purpose in the best manner possible.

It is the purpose of STUFF to inform you by accounts of events and situations pertaining to St. Joe, on and off the campus. Since this is a bi-weekly paper, we realize that all the information printed will not be news to you, but it will be news to the 1,300 people who receive STUFF off the campus.

STUFF will attempt to offer you humorous events and human interest articles for your own enlightenment and entertainment. We believe we have the staff with which to bring to you the feature articles that were missing last year.

STUFF will also try to influence its readers to high standards by supporting these standards in its articles, and by printing articles which encourage logical thinking and develop spirit among the student body.

A college newspaper may be constructive or destructive, but it will be STUFF's job to construct, unify, and publicize St. Joseph's through the medium of the parents, alumni, friends, students and faculty members who read it.

STUFF asks that it may have your vote of confidence for the coming year. Remember, it will be you who makes all future news for your paper. In this way, you are part of it. The staff of STUFF realizes that it has a difficult job on its hands. But if you give us all you've got, we'll give you the best newspaper you've ever had.

Gag Busters...

It's rumored that ball-playing Frank Stauctet will be heading Indianapolis way—not to talk over contract negotiations, but to see a certain someone. Incidentally, Frank moves up again next year—to the majors, we hope.

The cross-country basketballers are legging it again, with big Bill Krodol leading the pack home, as usual. You'd almost think Rosie was chasing him.

What has happened to the Terre Haute fever that pervaded the campus, last year? We wish that last semester's romancers, Scatback Hanley, Nature-boy Patterson, Lover Miniat, Cuddles Ronan, 15 for 15 Angermeier, to mention a few, would keep us informed of developments.

Joining Jim Mangan, Joe McGrath, and Tom Emerson in the Hook Club, this past summer, were Dave Walsh, Bernié Ingersoll, Fred Welsh, Dick O'Reilly, Bob Horky, Ken Weibel, Ed Nowak, and Ray O'Donnell, although Alma Lou is holding up Ray's membership by lack of cooperation. For our readers' information—you join the Hook Club by signing away your freedom and "steadyin'" it.

And who writes to more lonely girls than Jack Bushell? All stags wishing to be fixed up for homecoming dates should contact Jack.

Red Wallace reports that he has found a real "fish" at Drexel Hall. It is reported that this kind soul keeps Red in spending money and cigarettes, with a bit to boot. How about us cutting in on some of that easy money, Red.

Now that he is in a position to call the upperclassmen by their first name, Frank Krisch has been bragging about the place of prominence that he holds among the Freshmen. He has gone so far as to throw away the water-wings he acquired when it was rumored that he was scheduled for a nocturnal plunge.

Jack Keating, known to his friends as "Ol' Bet a Million," tried to take some of the lambs to the slaughter, the other night, and ended up getting fleeced. The one redeeming feature of the evening is that Jack now knows that four aces always beat three.

What Do You Think?

Here Are Views of a Few

BY DON DELAVE

The spotlight of current events threw its beam on several important events during the past two weeks, but the greatest illumination fell on the Freshman Presidential Elections.

St. Joseph's usually serene campus provided the background for colorful and humorous posters, serious bulletins, declamations, and amateur disc-jockeys. In an attempt to measure student reaction, STUFF put this question to a number of students: What are your views of the Freshman Election Campaign? Here is what a few of our arm-chair philosophers have to say about the subject.

Andy Kuebrick, Chicago freshman, thought that the campaign showed remarkable spirit on the part of the freshmen. Said Andy, "I think that the candidates failed to offer definite plans and ideals in their respective platforms. These plans should have been posted on their bulletins. I also believe that definite times and places should have been arranged by the nominees in which speeches would be delivered. Thus the worth of each candidate could be more fully determined."

An excellent point was brought out by James Corrigan, freshman from Fox Lake, Ill. He said, "It seems to me that one important item was conspicuously absent in the convention. The candidates definitely skipped the most important point in a program for a freshman year... the advocating of greater attendance at Mass and Communion."

A few twists were added to the situation by freshman James Spliedt of Muskegon, Mich. He believes that a freshman president does more to disunify than he does to unify. He said, "I believe that a four or five-man committee should be elected with a presiding chairman to act as head. The entire class would then be united under these men instead of having several groups who would be loyal only to their respective candidates. Then programs, such as those supported by the N.F.C.C.S., would have the backing of the entire class."

Sophomore Paul Ryan, of Fort Wayne, Ind., thought that the freshman campaign should pave the way for upper-class campaigns. "This is something new," he stated, "but it is already a tradition at other colleges. I would add, however, that losing candidates should remember to give their full support to the winners throughout the year."

"I think that a campaign is essential to the election of a president, and should by all means become a part of St. Joseph's," said Peter Ortega, a New Mexico sophomore. "Since most of the students do not know each other at the beginning of the year, the campaign is the only practical way of making an intelligent choice."

Greg Bateman, Danville, Ill., sophomore, said, "To my mind the freshman presidential campaign is a wholesome and constructive activity which has added to the vigor and spirit of the entire student body. It has its extremes which must be avoided, but somewhere between these extremes are the norms for establishing a new tradition that should take a prominent place among the old at St. Joe."

A LaPorte, Ind., sophomore, John Wandell, thought that the campaign definitely added spirit to the campus. Said Wandell, "I believe it affords a worthwhile diversion, and as such should be continued. One thing I would like to have published, however, is a list of campaign expenditures. This would enable a certain check to be laid on campaign expenses."

Pumas Seek Second Victory in Iowa

Quinn Injured As Louisville Batters Pumas

BY BOB BRAITHWAITE

The St. Joe Pumas dropped a 20-0 decision to the Cardinals of Louisville Oct. 2, on the Cardinal's home field. The Cards, smarting under Coach Frank Camp's warning to "play ball or else!" showed versatility and speed as well as sustained power to win easily.

Quarterback Tom Quinn was sidelined early in the contest with a dislocated shoulder, and X-rays taken at St. Joseph's Hospital revealed that the East Chicago junior would be lost to the Pumas for the remainder of the season. Quarterbacking duties will probably fall on Bill Hoban, a sophomore from Dayton, O., and John Karibo, freshman from Louisville.

Scored Quickly

The Redbirds scored as soon as they could get their hands on the ball, marching 84 yards in straight plays, with John Brewer blasting over from the six-yard marker. The try for the point was no good.

In the second period, St. Joe fumbled and the Cardinals recovered on the Puma 30-yard line, turning the recovery into another touchdown in four successive plays. Capt. George Bertram booted the placement and the half-time score read 13-0.

The second half was comparatively quiet, but in the fourth quarter, Joe Trabue, Louisville back, went down the sidelines for 57 yards and the third Redbird TD. Bertram again was called upon to boot the ball between the uprights, making the final score 20-0.

Pumas Fight Back

The Pumas fought back in the last stanza with a 35-yard punt return by Cliff Beaver and a 15-yard jaunt by Wally Moore, but the game ended on the Louisville 19-yard line.

Moore's 43 yards in six efforts led St. Joe ground-gainers with a 7.2 yard average per try.

St. Joe Cubs Meet Valparaiso "B" Team

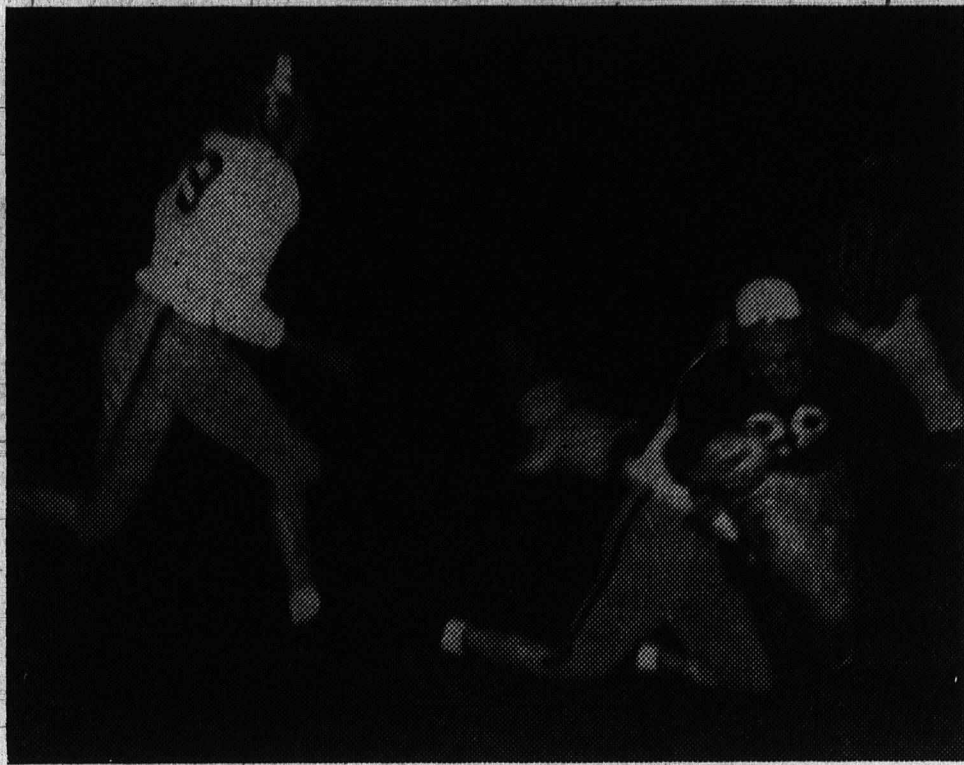

St. Joe's Puma Cubs, following several weeks of intensive drills, will open a two-game schedule against Valparaiso's Reserves this afternoon on the local gridiron.

Although Fred Jones has announced no definite starting lineup, it is expected that the entire 21-man squad will see some action.

A return engagement between the two aggregations will be played at Valparaiso on Wednesday, Oct. 20.

St. Joe Rally Falls Short; Crusaders Eke Out 20-14 Win

The shadows were already lengthening over the Valparaiso football field when the Pumas finally broke into the scoring column against the Crusaders last Saturday afternoon. And Valpo went away on the long end of the 20-14 score.

Trailing 20-0 late in the third quarter the Pumas recovered a Valpo fumble on the latter's 18-yard line. Four plays later John "Bob" Frawley plunged over from the three for the ice-breaker; his kick for the extra point was good.

Moore Races 62

Barely minutes later, at the start of the fourth quarter, the Pumas roared right back with another tally. Valpo punted after receiving St. Joe's kick-off, setting the Pumas back on their own 17-yard line. Cliff Beaver's 11-yard run climaxed a three-play drive to the Puma 38, from which point Wally Moore exploded through the line and raced the remaining 62 yards for the score.

Puma hopes ran high as Frawley's boot made the score 20-14 with almost the whole fourth quarter still to go. From this point, the game was played in Valpo territory. Time just wasn't with the Scharfmen, however.

Time Runs Out

Fighting hard, St. Joe leaped on another Valpo fumble. Beaver then scampered 13 yards to the 22, and Don Schubert moved the ball to the 12 in two plays. Time was wastin' as Bob Frawley bulled his way to the two. After a backfield in motion penalty, which put the ball on the seven, Moore's game-ending pass was batted down.

In Valpo's second quarter scoring Sievers tallied first on a 10-yard pass and a few minutes later on a short plunge. The Crusaders final score, in the third quarter, resulted from Mehlberg's sensational 68-yard off-tackle run.

Loras Conference Foe Sunday; Ambrose Here for Dad's Day

Moving into Midlands Conference competition, the Pumas will face two rough loop opponents on successive weekends when they invade Dubuque, Iowa, Sunday, Oct. 17, for an encounter with the Duhawks of Loras and then play host to St. Ambrose's Bees in a Dad's Day tilt here the following Sunday, Oct. 24.

Somewhat handicapped by the loss of Quarterback Tom Quinn and End Roy Stone who have been benched with injuries received in the Louisville game, the Puma gridmen have been working out intensely in preparation for the Loras engagement. Coach Dick Scharf has yet to announce replacements for Quinn and Stone, however, Bill Hoban may fill in the quarterback slot.

Unbeaten Since 1946

The Duhawks, unbeaten since 1946, have stretched their win streak this season, registering victories over South Dakota State and Luther College. They downed the Pumas 21-6 last fall, after losing to the Cardinal and Purple 12-0 in 1941, 19-0 in 1942, and 13-0 in 1946.

Boasting a host of nine returning lettermen, the Duhawks are expected to prove troublesome. Mike Elliot, place-kicking specialist, booted 20 points after touchdowns last season and added four touchdowns for a total of 44 points and Fullback Ed Uvodich, another returning letterman, ripped off seven touchdowns for a 42-point tally. Both are probable starters in the Oct. 17 contest.

Ambrose Strong

Dad's Day will find the Pumas up against a strong Ambrose squad of 22 returning lettermen who turned in five wins against three losses last season. In three contests with St. Joe the Bees have won two and tied one. Victories were registered in 1946 and 1947, while the two squads battled to a 13-13 deadlock in 1942.

The Bees will be sparked by Don Whan, an experienced and shifty quarterback who can run, kick and pass, and Fullback Jack Mooney, last year's leading ground-gainer and scorer. Other positions find the Ambrosians knee-deep in capable substitutions.

32 Aspirants Report For Cage Drills; 11 Lettermen Return

With St. Joe's gridiron season past the half-way mark, 32 aspirants have reported for basketball practice and are working out under the watchful eye of Mr. Cosgrove, basketball mentor.

Among those drilling for the approaching cage season are 11 returning veterans from the 1947-'48 aggregation who will form the nucleus of this year's quintet. They are Ray Patterson, Chuck Barton, Bill Krodell, Paul Bauman, Don Tesmond, Larry Weinbrod, Chester Kusek, Bob Horky, Jim Mangan, Ray O'Donnell, and George Peters. Coach Cosgrove pointed out that two freshmen, Jack Wilz and Bob Dwyer, have been showing definite promise in daily drills.

Candidates Listed

Other candidates include Del Purdy, Ben Dant, Don Patterson, Joe Davis, Chester Jendryk, Pat Carroll, Bob Eder, James Drake, Robert Heuser, Phil Stahl, Don Brouillette, Paul O'Connor, Mike Beaven, Phil Vanderbosch, Lawrence Smith, Marty McGowan, James Cullinan, Dan Shea, and Larry Blaaser.

Cosgrove's charges are now in the midst of three weeks of cross-country running which began Oct. 4.

Schedule Incomplete

The schedule for the coming season has yet to be completed; however, it is expected that about 20 net tilts will form the 1948-'49 slate, the Rev. Edward Roof, Director of Athletics, announced. Included are games in the Midlands Intercollegiate Athletic Conference with St. Ambrose, St. Norbert's, Loras, and St. Benedict's. Contests with Valparaiso, Indiana State, Anderson, DePaul of Chicago, Canterbury, Wabash, and Illinois Wesleyan also are listed.

Four-way Tie In I. M. Loop

A four-way deadlock for first position in the Intramural touch football league resulted after a week of competition on the playing field in front of Science Hall. Three squads, the Ramrods, Hoods, and Shmoos, paced the 10-team loop with two wins each against no losses. The Thirsty Niners registered a win in one contest to cling to an upper division berth.

West Seifert Hit by Morning Flash Flood

Sabotage took place aboard the U.S.S. West Seifert on the morning of Oct. 1, when unidentified seamen aboard the ship failed to close water pipes that were being repaired the night before.

The tragedy wasn't discovered until 1:30 in the morning. The water began rushing from the wash-basins of the top deck, wending its way through the passageways, and "Niagara Falling" down the steps into the hold below.

Horky Hero

Split-second action on the part of Seaman 1st Class Bob Horky saved the ship's personnel from a watery grave. Horky managed to fight his way through the swirling waters and close the open valves that were gushing forth in the washroom.

Midshipmen Dick Kelly and Louis Abbott were dealt the worst damage, for their quarters happened to be situated at the foot of the stairs where the swelling Niagara was spending its loosed energy.

However, Kelly and Abbott managed to awaken in time to wade from the throes of a watery death.

Writer Reveals Inside-Story On Present-Day Campaigning

BY UTAH CUMMINGS

Since the days of Plato and Aristotle, people have been choosing leaders for themselves. The system involved is usually called "Election." This is an old Greek word meaning, "The biggest man will rule."

In the old days it was the habit of toga-clad Patricians to drop little black colored balls into a jug if they wanted a change in administration.

Methods Improve

Things developed quickly from that time. As our superior civilization evolved, the crude ways of the Greeks and Romans became antiquated. Soon it was the habit of the new candidate to sink an axe into the head of the incumbent. This eliminated all kinds of red tape, and saved time in counting the colored balls.

Then came the days of Christian charity, when everybody loved his brother. Later, the use of gunpowder became widespread. What an advancement a bullet was over the old, messy axe!

Murder Unlawful

Soon, a wily politician made a law against killing politicians. For a while this had all the candidates buffaloed, until one bright boy had a stroke of genius. His plan was simple. He would slander, calumniate, libel, and cast aspersions until the incumbent died of shame or was run out of town on a rail. This humane, benevolent system he called "campaigning." And this is the present good, red-blooded American way of life.

Another method of campaigning is to whitewash one's own personal life. This is more or less self-defense, so that the opposition won't be able to slander as well.

Take a purely hypothetical election for an example. Let's dredge our imaginations and come up with a fantastic case. . . A freshman class election at some college.

For want of a name, we'll call the school St. Joseph's.

Campaigning Begins

What happens? Out of a class of 250, there are 200 who want the office of class president. By use of the Christian charity method, this number slowly boils down to six and campaigning begins in earnest.

Emil Yopnotch, the favorite of the bookies, starts the ball rolling with a few lines: "Vote for Comrade Yopnotch. . . the People's Choice!" Soon, the campus is blossoming with signs. "Vote for O'Malley!" "Plant good government. . . Vote for the Gardener!" "Bet on the Dark Horse. . . Vote for DeWash!" "Don't throw away your votes! Save it for next year!" and "Tell a Buddy!"

The election looks close. The candidates feel that it's anybody's ball game. Yopnotch can be seen touring freshman rooms handing out candy bars. DeWash counters with five-cent cigars. O'Malley hires a band and makes speeches. Gardener offers free beers in Jona's over his private P.A. system. It looks like Gardener's day.

Elections Near

The elections draw near. The campaigning becomes frenzied. Rumors have it that Yopnotch is a Communist. Another says, "I am not." DeWash is painted as a Fascist. Gardener offers more beer. O'Malley holds a bonfire rally.

The final hour comes. The polls open, the freshmen flock to place their votes. The polls close, and a strained silence pervades while the votes are tallied. Then, the winner is announced. A great shout goes up. Cries of "Huzza" rock the campus. Hats float into the air, and the victorious candidate is lifted to the shoulders of his followers and a parade is formed around the campus.

Who won? You've seen more movies than that. Yash Papufnik . . . by a landslide.
